Vinhas Centenárias, 2018

More than making a wine of today with vines of yesteryear, we sought to make a wine of yesteryear with vines of yesteryear.

This wine tells a story. It tells the story of a people, their customs in Serra da Estrela region.

Our aim was recreating the wine that Américo Seabra, father of the founders of Casa Américo, taken in his memory when he emigrated to the USA in 1967. The wine of its people, of its land!

Vinhas Centenárias

Starting from a century-old vineyard, Quinta da Cerca, with a great diversity of autochthonous varieties, predominantly red, centuries-old winemaking traditions were evoked, such as a single manual harvest, fermentation in an open press and finishing in cement vats.

Quinta da Cerca is a centuries-old vineyard, very traditional, surrounded by a granite wall stones, located above the quota of 550 mts., on a gentle slope facing east.

As was usual in the region, a diversity of indigenous varieties such as Jaen, Tinta Amarela, Tinta Pinheira, Baga, Touriga Nacional, Camarate, Mourisco among others are present in the vineyard. In the white varieties it is possible to find Fernão Pires, Bical, Rabo de Ovelha, Malvasia, Folha de Figueira among others.

The day of the harvest, it was a feast day, family and neighbours gathered, everyone helped! Everything that was in the vineyard was harvested at once, it was not sorted by varieties or even by color. The wine obtained was literally the result of this vineyard. At the time of the harvest, the viticulture and oenology team, aim to find the balance of maturation in order to make a single manual harvest, as in other times. In the winemaking process, we opted for open-lagar fermentation and finishing in cement deposits. Like you used to do in the old days.

SUB-REGIÃO SERRA DA ESTRELA

O vinho conta uma história. Conta a história dos costumes e da região da Serra da Estrela, vindo de uma vinha centenária, com uma grande diversidade de castas autóctones, predominantemente tintas, evocaram-se as tradições vitivinícolas centenárias, como uma única vindima manual, fermentação em lagar aberto e finalização em depósitos de cimento.
Procurou-se recriar o vinho que Américo Seabra, o pai dos fundadores da Casa Américo, levou na memória quando emigrou para os EUA em 1967.
O vinho das suas gentes, da sua terra!
